Alcohol ban
at stations

Germany's national railway operator said Tuesday that it is banning alcohol consumption at all stations on the network in an effort to improve security and cleanliness for employees and passengers – though there will be exemptions, including for station bars and restaurants.

Deutsche Bahn said that the ban will be introduced step-by-step at all 5,400 stations in Germany by October 15. Bans have already been introduced at 30 stations, among them in Cologne, Hamburg and Munich. Berlin's central and Gesundbrunnen stations will follow on September 1, along with some others, before the measure is expanded nationwide.

"We have observed too often that violence increases where too much alcohol flows," Deutsche Bahn CEO Evelyn Palla said in a statement. (AP)

Israel building miles-long earthen barrier inside Gaza

LEE KEATH/ JULIA FRANKEL
Cairo

The Israeli military is quietly but quickly building a giant earthen barrier separating the over 50 per cent of the Gaza Strip it controls from the rest of the territory, according to satellite imagery, further entrenching the division of the tiny Palestinian enclave.

More than 23 kilometres have been constructed in recent months, running through Palestinian communities demolished by the military. That is equivalent to more than half the length of the coastal strip, which is some 40 kilometres long and 11 kilometres wide, and home to over 2 million Palestinians.

Residents clear rubble from their homes destroyed during the Israel-Hezbollah war in Ghandouriyeh village, southern Lebanon on Tuesday

When presented with the satellite images, Israel's military confirmed to The Associated Press it has built a physical barrier in the area of the so-called yellow line, the boundary to which Israeli troops withdrew under the October ceasefire deal with Hamas. The line was envisioned in the US-backed agreement as a temporary is morphing into a border. Neither US Central Command, which is tasked with monitoring the ceasefire, nor the Board of Peace, the body led by US President Donald Trump meant to eventually oversee Gaza, would comment on the barrier.

Along with the barrier, the military told AP it has developed a "security zone" around the line, equipped with intelligence and technological assets. It declined to give details on the route of the barrier when asked how far it would be extended. It said the barrier aimed to prevent infiltration and protect Israeli troops and Israeli communities near Gaza. Since the ceasefire deal took hold, Palestinians in Gaza have feared Israel would not return the area of Gaza it controls. But few appear to be aware of the berms now being built around them - because of the danger of even approaching that area.

A portion of the berm network in southern Gaza was extended by more than 2 kilometres in two weeks this month, according to the satellite images provided by Planet Labs PBC.

The berm was about 500 metres long on July 1. By July 15, it was about 2.4 kilometres, splicing the Israel-controlled ruins of the city of Rafah from Muwasil, site of some of the largest Palestinian tent camps. (AP)

Japan raises safety concern over Chinese destroyer's live-fire drills

MARI YAMAGUCHI Tokyo

Japan expressed concern after a Chinese navy destroyer conducted live-fire drills off a remote Japanese island in the Pacific Ocean on Sunday during its joint exercise with Russia, officials said Tuesday.

The Chinese Luyang III-class guided-missile destroyer conducted a live-fire exercise off Japan's southernmost island of Okinotori, hours after the Japanese navy spotted it operating alongside two other Chinese warships and a Russian frigate, the Japanese Joint Staff said.

Chief Cabinet Secretary Minoru Kihara told reporters Tuesday that his Government conveyed concerns that the live-fire drills posed a potential safety threat to nearby vessels. He noted that ships near the area received a notice from the Chinese warships just before the drills started. "We will continue to watch China-Russia operations around Japan with concern, while doing utmost for the warning and surveillance of the Japanese airspace and territorial waters," Kihara said.

Japanese Defense Minister Shinjiro Koizumi, in a speech Monday in Britain, said the action underscored "the deepening military cooperation between China and Russia," as he also noted China's ballistic missile launch from a submarine earlier this month, and at least 10 joint flights conducted by Chinese and Russian bombers around Japan.
